The old saying about being condemned to repeat the history we don't know applies to Church history as much as to anything else. But we are often at a loss to know how to approach it. The Catholic Historical Review 92.2 (2006) 267-268 The frontispiece is a 1740 haywain passing the ruins of an ancient abbey, a pleasing way of asserting that the Church has a history. Williams give some very good reasons why study of the past can help us to understand the present and prepare us for the future. After every major change there might be a good reason to re-write history to integrate the lessons learned.
