William Starke Rosecrans (September 6, 1819 – March 11, 1898) was an American inventor, coal-oil company executive, diplomat, politician, and U.S. Army officer. NEW DEALS: Fiction | Literary Fiction Author of You Lost Me There, Rosecrans Baldwin's PARIS I LOVE YOU, BUT YOU'RE BRINGING ME DOWN, about a young American couple's adventures of living and working in 21st-century Paris-where the Great French Dream is calcifying, the frozen food is superb, and despairing lovers duel ...Have You Seen My Humans? I've Lost Them! If you have lost your Siberian Husky or have found one, please let us know and we will post (without charge) your, or the dog's, information here. This Slate article by Rosecrans Baldwin is both the funniest and the most intriguing thing I've read in a while. He starts off by observing that "Novelists can't resist including a dog barking in the distance," and hits you with enough examples, from all levels of literature, that you accept the phenomenon as valid.
